A black and white photograph showing the back of a handheld device, identified as a Wireless Data Terminal (PCC reader). The device is black with a silver-colored rectangular area on the right side. A ruler is placed horizontally below the device, showing measurements in inches (0 to 10) and centimeters (0 to 200). The device features a small display screen at the top, a speaker grille below it, and a camera lens on the right side. A label on the left side of the device contains the following text: "Wireless Data Terminal", "PCC reader", "Model: PCC-R", "Serial: 10000000000000000000", "Barcode: 10000000000000000000", "Manufacturer: PCC-R", "Model: PCC-R", "Serial: 10000000000000000000", "Barcode: 10000000000000000000", "Manufacturer: PCC-R".

A black handheld electronic device, possibly a rugged smartphone or PDA, is shown lying on a blue fabric surface. The device has a large screen on the right side and a keypad on the left. A silver ruler is placed horizontally below the device, and another ruler is placed vertically to the left of the device, providing a sense of scale. The device appears to be a ruggedized version of a smartphone, with a thick, protective casing. The screen is dark and unlit. The keypad is visible on the left side of the device. The background is a solid blue fabric.
