1. Open iPhone's Bluetooth

2. Open the app MI Matrix Panel

After the Bluetooth connection is successful, you can click the switch. The app indicates that the machine is now free again after closing.

The screenshot shows the iOS Photos app interface. At the top, the status bar displays '9:58' and 'Cellular'. The main area shows a photo of a tree, which is highlighted with a white border. Below the photo, a white bar contains the word 'Tree'. To the right of the photo, a large white plus sign indicates the sharing options menu is open. The bottom of the screen shows a white navigation bar with a 'Print' button and a printer icon.

The screenshot shows the iPad app interface. At the top, there's a status bar with '100%' battery, 'iPad', and 'Jul 11, 2013'. Below that, the app title 'MidiPad' is centered. There are two buttons: 'Launchpad' and 'Launchpad (MIDI)'. The main display area shows a grid of 16 icons representing different instruments. Below the grid, there's a section with a volume knob and a 'MIDI' button. At the bottom, there's a navigation bar with icons for 'Home', 'Launchpad', 'MIDI', and 'Settings'.
