	 A close-up photograph of the back of a black electronic device. At the top, there is a circular power button. Below it, the word "POWER" is printed in white capital letters. Further down, there is a rectangular cutout, and below that, the words "Skylight Frame" are printed in white. The device has a matte black finish.
EUT View 5	 A photograph of the same black electronic device from a wider angle, placed on a blue surface. A black ruler with white markings is positioned next to the device for scale. The ruler shows measurements in millimeters and centimeters. The device has a rectangular cutout in the center, and the word "STAND" is printed in white below it. The device is oriented vertically.
