

A black handheld electronic device, possibly a PDA or a rugged smartphone, is shown against a blue background. The device has a rectangular screen in the center, a small antenna on the top edge, and four circular buttons or sensors at the corners. Below the screen, there are several green indicator lights. A wooden ruler is placed horizontally below the device, showing measurements in inches and centimeters. The text "label location" is overlaid on the screen.

label location