Troubleshooting Wi-Fi connection

Failed Wi-Fi connection may be caused by the following:

- Does not support 5GHz Wi-Fi Connection.
- Does not support Wi-Fi name with non-ASCII characters.
- Changed password or additional authentication through a webpage.
- The router is not connected to the internet or the signal from the router is too weak.

(1) If your device loses connection with your wireless network, it will automatically attempt to reconnect after five minutes. If that fails, it will make a new attempt every 15 minutes for the next 24 hours. Any manual operation of the thermostat will disable automatic connection attempts. (2) Energy Saving is available on certain models. The Wi-Fi function will enter a five-minute sleep mode when there is no manual operation. The system will wake up and reconnect to the internet every five minute interval.

Add Device to Account using Verification Code

After you create your account in the App or Webpage, you need to add the device to your account in order to remotely access the device. Simply follow on screen instructions in App or Webpage to complete this task.

- 1) Have the device connected to the internet (see Wi-Fi instructions on the other side of this guide.)
- 2) You need to be physically next to the device.

On the Wi-Fi status screen, tap App/Cloud Registration.

Next, in the App or Webpage, enter the MAC ID and Temp. Verification Code displayed on the screen.

- The MAC ID is a unique network ID for this device. This helps to identify your device over the internet.
- The Temporary Verification Code (TVC) is a 4-digit code randomly generated each time you enter this screen or enter the code. It expires in 90 seconds, then a new one will be needed.
- A QR code including both the MAC ID and TVC is generated for your convenience.
- During technical support, the TVC also functions as the verification of 'the user currently in possession of the device'.

Tap to generate a new code

Program with App/Webpage

New Schedule Period: Tap a time column to mark the beginning of a new period, then drag the remaining section up and down to finalize the set points.

Delete a Period: Drag a section of the schedule you want to remove to merge it with the previous or next period.

Mode Setup

Heating, Cooling, & Fan Operation

READINGS: The current temperature reading is the result of a comprehensive algorithm that averages the last five minutes of the surrounding environment. The device will take approx. 20 minutes to obtain the reading and reflect the actual room temperature after its initial start-up.

SCREEN TIMEOUT: There are several waiting periods whenever the system switches modes automatically or manually. Each waiting period (screen timeout) can be displayed up to 5 minutes with no action while the system awaits engagement.

DEADBAND: The default setting for deadband (also called a neutral zone or an interval [band] where no action occurs [the system is 'dead' - i.e. the output is zero]) is $\pm 1.8^\circ\text{F}$ around the set points. When Auto is selected, the thermostat will operate within $\pm 3^\circ\text{F}$ around the set points. To adjust the boundaries, enter PM at the System Activation screen.

SYSTEM OFF: You can turn the system off and stop the current program from running; the system can also be set to OFF for any specific time period within a program. While the system is off, fan operation and programming are not available.

System Lock, Unlock

There are three ways to lock and unlock the thermostat:

1. Push the rectangular button on the left side of the thermostat, or
2. Go to System Menu => Activation => Sys. Locking
Once the System Locking Screen appears, enter a 4-Digit Locking Code to lock the thermostat and enter the same code to unlock it.
3. The App or Web Portal may also be used to lock and unlock the thermostat. There is no need for a password in this scenario.

The password chosen is not saved or permanent, meaning the thermostat off the wall plate, then mount it back.

To unlock the device without the locking code, simply take the thermostat off the wall plate, then mount it back.

17

Date, Time

Only the current date and time may be entered.

Date and Time can be set from the device, App, or can be automatically updated from the internet.

ON DEVICE: There is no restriction for any date and time you want to set as current. However, once the device is registered or linked to a user account, the date and time on the device will automatically update with the current time associated with the user account.

APP or WEBPAGE: Select your time zone; the date and time for the device as well as the user account will automatically update.

AUTO UPDATE FROM INTERNET: An option from the System Menu allows the device to synchronize the time with the user account.

Weather & Location

The weather forecast is an internet enabled feature which requires a specific location for the device. The location is automatically determined when adding the device to the user account. You can also log into your account in the App or Webpage to assign a location to the device.

18

Temperature Limits, Alert Messages

These are NOT safety features to rely on!

Abnormal Conditions Alert

Adjust the temperature limits at which an Abnormal Conditions Alert message will be sent to the message box of your account and to the device. Select Never to bypass this feature.

Auto Heating or Cooling

During a mild weather season, people may select to turn system off while out for an extensive period of time for vacationing. This feature automatically turn heating or cooling on when the room temperature reaches certain limit.

To adjust Auto Heating or Cooling setpoints, enter PM at System Activation screen.

System Message

System messages can be self-generated by the device or sent by the Smart Cloud Server over the internet. You can view the message on the device: System Menu -> Activation -> Sys. Message, or in the message center of your account in the App or Webpage. Some messages may require you to reply by selecting the options provided while others serve to inform you.
