

A close-up photograph of a black cable with a gold-colored connector, lying on a green textured surface. The connector is a circular, multi-pin type, possibly a D-subminiature connector. The cable is black and appears to be made of braided shielding. The background is a green surface with a fine, pebbled texture.

