

A black wired game controller with red buttons is shown from a side-on perspective, resting on a grey, textured surface. The controller has a standard layout with two red analog sticks, a red D-pad, and several red action buttons. A black cable is attached to the back of the controller and extends towards the right. The background is slightly blurred, showing more of the grey surface and some indistinct shapes in the distance.

FCC ID: 2472W088
This device complies with Part 15 of the FCC Rules. Operation is subject to the following two conditions: (1) this device may not cause harmful interference, and
(2) this device must accept any interference received, including interference that may cause undesired operation.