Disposal and Recycling Information for Private Households about Electrical and Electronic Devices, Batteries, and Rechargeable Batteries

Our products are designed to make children smile for as long as possible. Nevertheless, it is inevitable that products will eventually reach the end of their life cycle. Below we have compiled the most important requirements that must be observed when handling our electrical and electronic devices as well as batteries and rechargeable batteries.

I. Separate Collection of Electrical and Electronic Devices as well as Batteries and Rechargeable Batteries

Electrical and electronic devices, as well as batteries and rechargeable batteries, may contain substances that can harm human health and the environment if disposed of improperly. As such, they should not be placed in your household trash but must be separated from municipal waste and disposed of separately through designated collection and return systems.

By disposing of them separately, you are also helping ensure that the substances and materials contained in electrical and electronic appliances and batteries and rechargeable batteries can be reused, recycled, or recovered in other ways.

II. Meaning of the "Crossed-Out Garbage Can" Symbols

These symbols indicate that batteries, electrical devices, and electronic devices should not be disposed of with regular household waste but need to be disposed of separately. You can find this symbol on the products themselves, on the product packaging, and/or in the user manuals for the electrical or electronic device.

III. Removal of Batteries and Rechargeable Batteries for Disposal

Please follow our instructions for battery removal at www.tonies.com/batteryremoval. The following batteries are installed in your Toniebox 2. We kindly ask you to only use the following batteries as replacements:

- Battery type: 1x lithium iron phosphate rechargeable battery
- Chemical system: LiFePO4
- CAUTION: Risk of fire or explosion if the battery is replaced by an incorrect type. Battery type: ITR26700
- Do not dispose of the the battery in a fire, expose to excessive heat, crush, or cut. It will explode.
- Keep the battery away from high heat or places with low air pressure. It may leak, catch fire, or explode.

IV. Return Options and General Disposal and Recycling Instructions

Electrical and electronic devices that have become waste are referred to as waste electrical and electronic equipment.

Owners of waste electrical and electronic equipment or used batteries from private households can drop them off at collection points provided by public waste disposal authorities or at return locations established by manufacturers or distributors.

Scan here for more information on materials, return options, collection points, and specific disposal and recycling instructions for your devices, batteries, and packaging:

www.tonies.com/disposalandrecycling

To protect your privacy, please be sure to delete the audio content saved on the device you are recycling by first performing a factory reset. Instructions on how to perform a factory reset can be found here:

FCC ID: 2AU47-00005

This device complies with Part 15 of the FCC rules. Operation is subject to the following two conditions:

- (1) This device may not cause harmful interference, and
- (2) this device must accept any interference received, including interference that may cause undesired operation.

This equipment has been tested and found to comply with the limits for a Class B digital device, pursuant to Part 15 of the FCC Rules. These limits are designed to provide reasonable protection against harmful interference in a residential installation. This equipment generates, uses, and can radiate radio frequency energy and, if not installed and used in accordance with the instructions, may cause harmful interference to radio communications. However, there is no guarantee that interference will not occur in a particular installation. If this equipment does cause harmful interference to radio or television reception, which can be determined by turning the equipment off and on, the user is encouraged to try to correct the interference by one or more of the following measures:

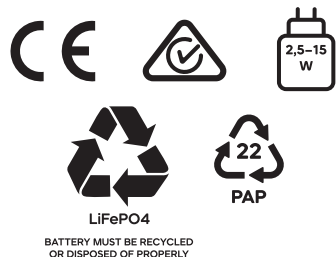

- Reorient or relocate the receiving antenna
- Increase the separation between the Toniebox 2 and the receiver
- Connect the Toniebox 2 with the charger to an outlet on a circuit different from that to which the receiver is connected

Waste electrical and electronic devices may not be disposed of with normal household waste. We kindly ask you to observe the recycling regulations applicable in your country.
