EUT View 3	 A black handheld device, likely a barcode scanner or similar electronic unit, is shown in a vertical orientation. It has a rectangular head with a light-colored sensor area. A black L-shaped ruler is placed next to it for scale, with the vertical part on the left and the horizontal part at the bottom. The ruler markings indicate a length of approximately 100mm for the device. The background is a solid blue fabric.
EUT View 4	 A black handheld device, similar to the one in View 3 but with a circular head, is shown in a vertical orientation. It has a circular sensor area on the head. A black L-shaped ruler is placed next to it for scale, with the vertical part on the left and the horizontal part at the bottom. The ruler markings indicate a length of approximately 100mm for the device. The background is a solid blue fabric.
