SUBJECT: FCC Application for (FCC ID:2BHFB-QUEST-00)

Our QUEST product is an infrared thermal imaging camera, suitable for use in industrial environments.

It can find out the imminent and existing faults and their locations through analyzing the thermal distribution of the measured target in the field of industrial automation. This can take timely measures to eliminate it and apply it in scenarios such as automated inspection, process control, status detection, and fire warning. Ultimately, it can improve efficiency and ensure safety.
