Safety and Operation

Important Safety Information:

Handle the headphones with care. They contain high-sensitivity electronic components, including batteries. Burning, puncturing, crushing, disassembling, or exposing them to high temperatures, liquids, or concentrated industrial chemicals (including proximity to volatile liquefied gases such as helium) may cause damage, malfunction, or injury to individuals.

Do not use the headphones if they are damaged.

Storage and Maintenance:

This product should be stored in a cool, dry place. The operating temperature is 0-35 ° C, and the storage temperature is -15-40 ° C. Excessively high or low temperatures may affect device performance and could potentially damage the headphones and battery.

Keep the product away from heat sources, flammable gases, or corrosive/cleaning liquids. Avoid prolonged exposure to direct sunlight and refrain from using or placing the product in any high temperature environments.

Clean the headphones regularly with a soft, lint-free dry cloth. Ensure that the headphones are dry and clean after each use.

If stored for an extended period, charge the product at least once every six months.

Battery:

This product is equipped with a built-in lithium battery. Do not disassemble, crush, puncture, or incinerate the battery. Do not attempt to replace the headphone battery yourself, as it may damage the battery, causing overheating or personal injury. All batteries have a limited lifespan and may lose capacity after hundreds of full recharge cycles. If you experience any abnormalities, such as overheating, low voltage, discoloration, deformation, or leakage, stop using the device immediately and contact customer support.

Charging:

Use the charging cable in conjunction with a power adapter or computer to charge the headphones. Only use adapters that comply with local laws and international/regional safety standards and meet WAGAWAGA's input specifications. Other adapters may not meet applicable safety standards, and using such adapters for charging could result in risk of serious injury or death. Using damaged cables or chargers, or charging in damp environments, may lead to fire, electric shock, personal injury, or damage to the other property. WAGAWAGA is not liable for any accidents or damages resulting from the use of unauthorized accessories.

Prolonged Exposure to Heat:

When the device and its power adapter, charging cable, and connector are plugged into the power source, avoid prolonged skin contact, as this may cause discomfort or injury. For example, when headphones are charging through a charging cable and power adapter, do not sit or sleep on the charging cable, plug, or power adapter, or place them under a blanket, pillow or your body. If your headphones exhibit noticeable abnormal heating, please exercise extra caution.

Hearing Damage:

Listening to music at high volumes may cause permanent hearing damage. Background noise and prolonged exposure to high volumes can make sounds seem softer than they actually are. After putting on the WAGA Champion Bluetooth headphones, check the volume level carefully before playing any audio.

[Warning] Listening at high volumes for extended periods may cause hearing loss and sound distortion.

Choking Hazard:

The headphones and their accessories may pose a choking hazard to children or cause other injuries. Keep the headphones out of reach of children and pets. If accidental ingestion occurs, seek immediate medical attention.

Driving Hazards:

It is recommended not to use this product while driving. Check and comply with the laws and regulations regarding headphone use in your driving area. Please remain cautious and focused while driving. When driving any type of vehicle or engaging in any activity that requires full concentration, if you find that listening to music causes confusion or distracts your attention, stop using any audio devices.

Interference with Medical Devices:

Some components of the headphone generate electromagnetic fields, and the headphone also contain magnets. These electromagnetic fields and magnets may interfere with pacemakers, defibrillators, or other medical devices. Please consult your physician and the manufacturer of your medical device for information on specific medical devices. If you suspect that your headphone is interfering with your pacemaker, defibrillator, or any other medical device, stop using it.

Skin Irritation:

Improper cleaning of the headphones may cause skin irritation or even infection. Regularly clean the headphones with a soft, lint-free cloth. If skin irritation occurs, stop using the headphones. If the condition persists, consult a doctor.

Static Discharge:

When using headphones in areas with very dry air, static electricity can accumulate, and your ears may experience weak static discharges from the headphones. To minimize the risk of static discharge, avoid using the product in extremely dry environments or touch an unpainted, grounded metal object with the headphones before wearing them.

Important Tip:

Under normal usage, the charging plug/interface and the headphone Pogopin charging contacts may discolor, which is a normal phenomenon. Discoloration can occur due to the infiltration of dust, debris, and moisture.
