

The label is attached to the body of the device under the battery cover with a permanent adhesive.