Step 4

Getting Help

1 Read the Reference Guide.

To learn all about the features of your new Sidekick, read the Reference Guide, included in the box.

2 Open the on-device Owner's Manual.

While using your device, you can reference the Owner's Manual:

- Press JUMP .
- Press MENU .
- Select Help > Owner's Manual.

Sidekick TLC

Take your Sidekick everywhere you go, but remember to carry it in a case or holster. The screens are expensive to replace!

Water can seriously damage your Sidekick and charger — even small amounts like steam from hot water in the kitchen or bathroom, or drops of soda from a can in your car's cup holder can do harm — so take care to keep your Sidekick dry and safe.

T-Mobile.com and the Desktop Interface

If you have any questions about your service or your Sidekick, there's lots of personalized help available from www.T-Mobile.com. It's easy to get there:

- 1 On your computer, point your Web browser to www.T-Mobile.com.
- 2 In the My T-Mobile section, type your device's Phone Number and Password, then click Log In. Your My T-Mobile page opens. From this page you can view your remaining minutes, your bill, and follow the links to other personalized support.
- 3 To view the email, contacts, and other information you store on your Sidekick, click the link to the Desktop Interface. From the "Jump" page that opens, click Help for detailed instructions on using your Sidekick's applications.
