NOTICE OF HP INC.'S DEFINITIVE AGREEMENT TO ACQUIRE THE PRINTER BUSINESS OF SAMSUNG ELECTRONICS CO.,LTD. AND REQUEST FOR ACTION NECESSARY TO RECOGNIZE HP AS RIGHTFUL
HOLDER OF AUTHORIZATIONS OF SAMSUNG UPON CLOSING

HP Inc. (HP) has entered into a definitive agreement to acquire the printer business and related assets of Samsung Electronics Co., Ltd. (Samsung). The transaction is expected to close by September of 2017 or earlier. HP provides this statement in connection with product certifications issued to Samsung and its affiliated entities related to the printer business.

Samsung and its affiliates seek to add HP or its relevant affiliated entity to product registrations and certifications. In connection with this effort, HP authorizes Samsung and its affiliates to identify HP or the appropriate HP affiliate as a manufacturer, effective upon the closing of the transaction.

In light of the above, we respectfully support Samsung's request that agencies take steps necessary now so that, upon closing, the agencies will:

- Officially recognize that both HP and Samsung entities are the rightful and legal holders of product certifications issued to the printer business of Samsung;
- Make conforming changes to the certifications, as necessary, to reflect that HP and Samsung entities are joint holders of the product certifications of the printer business of Samsung, or as the case may be, issue separate Authorizations;

Background

HP Inc. is a leading global provider of products, technologies, software, solutions and services to individual consumers, small- and medium-sized businesses and large enterprises headquartered in Palo Alto, California, USA. We are pleased to have been in business more than twenty-five years with operations in more than fifty countries and a world-wide employment base in excess of 50,000. In September 2016, HP and Samsung entered into a definitive agreement under which HP will acquire the printer business and related assets of Samsung. The overall transaction, valued at $1.05 billion, involves the acquisition of the printer business and assets in numerous countries. Following closing, the acquired printer business will be integrated into HP's Office Printing Solutions global business.

No Changes to Authorized Activities

Notwithstanding this upcoming acquisition, no immediate material changes or modifications will be made to any of the manufacturing processes, products or constituents of the products of the printer business of Samsung.

Samsung Electronics CO.,LTD.
Samsung-ro 129, Yeongtong-Gu,
Suwon-Si, Gyeonggi-Do, Korea

More specifically, no changes will be made to:

- a. products, product names, and model numbers on existing products;
- b. product conformity with compliance standards;
- c. product design and materials content;
- d. product manufacturing processes and locations;
- e. product components, parts and supplies; or
- f. suppliers and vendors or their management and oversight.

HP Inc. is recognized as a leader on environmental and sustainability issues and considers its environmental compliance obligations to be of highest importance. HP will integrate the acquired printer business assets into its commitment to compliance and matters pertaining to the environment and sustainability.

Transition Period

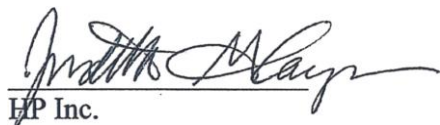

The acquisition is expected to be completed no later than September 2017, and an earlier closing may occur. For hardware and supplies, HP intends to maintain the Samsung brand for some period of time after the transaction closes. Therefore, some products on the market as well as their invoice descriptions, manuals, and packaging and labeling may continue to bear the brand of Samsung, even after the acquisition is completed and fully implemented.

Sincerely,

Samsung Electronics Co., Ltd.
