Dear Sir or Madam:

We, Lectrosonics, Inc., hereby declare that model: SMV-23 is electrically identical with the same electromagnetic emissions and electromagnetic compatibility characteristics as model: SMQV-23 tested by BACL, the results of which are featured in BACL project: R1807309.

A description of the differences between the tested model and those that are declared similar are as follows:

The SMV-23 is powered by one AA battery; the SMQV-23 is powered by two AA batteries wired in parallel. Because it uses only one battery, the width of the SMV-23 case is truncated by 14 mm on one side but the layout of connectors and controls is identical in both models.

Please contact me should there be need for any additional clarification or information.

Best Regards,

Robert Cummings, V.P. Engineering
