

The image displays two views of a white, ruggedized industrial device. The top view shows the rear panel with a -48V DC power connector, a central access door, and various ports labeled AISO, EXT LO, OPT 1, and OPT 2. The bottom view shows the same panel with the access door open, revealing internal components, and a small white control module connected to the bottom of the panel.

