

The photograph below shows an exterior top view with the Superset 4125 in its normal operating position.

The photograph below shows an exterior top view with the Programmable Key Module 48 in its normal operating position.

The photograph below of the exterior bottom view shows the Programmable Key Module 48's interface connectors.

The photograph below shows an exterior top view with the Superset 4150 in its normal operating position.

