- To end the intercom call without answering the outside call, press OFF. The intercom call ends and the telephone continues to ring.
- To answer a call, press OFF to end the intercom call. The telephone continues to ring. Then press W to answer the call.

Use the built-in answering system and voicemail service

You can use your answering system and voicemail service together by setting your answering system to answer before voicemail service answers as described below. To learn how to program your voicemail settings, contact your telephone service provider.

If you are on a call, or if the answering system is busy recording a message and you receive another call, the second caller can leave a voicemail message.

Set your answering system to answer calls at least two rings after the first voicemail message is set to answer. For example, if your voicemail service answers after six rings, set your answering system to answer after four rings. Second voicemail service providers may program the delay before answering calls in seconds rather than rings. In this case, allow six seconds per ring when determining the appropriate setting.

Retrieve voicemail

Voicemail is a feature available from most telephone service providers. It may be included with your telephone service, or may be optional. Fees may apply.

When you received a voicemail, the handset displays # and New voicemail. To retrieve your voicemail, dial an access number provided by your telephone service provider, and then enter a security code. Contact your telephone service provider for more information on the voicemail settings and limits to messages.

Turn off the new voicemail indicators

If you have retrieved your voicemail while away from home, and the handset still displays the new voicemail indicators, use the following steps to turn off the indicators.

Press MENU and use the indicators only. Do not delete your voicemail messages.

Press MENU when the handset is not in use. Press W to scroll to Intercom, and then press SELECT. Press OFF to deactivate, and then press SELECT.
