A photograph of the internal components of a disassembled laptop, showing the green motherboard, black battery, and various electronic components. The components are laid out on a blue surface. The motherboard is green and populated with numerous integrated circuits, capacitors, and other electronic components. A large black battery is visible on the right side. A black plastic frame is mounted on the motherboard, likely for the display or keyboard. A white ribbon cable is connected to the motherboard. A small blue and white sticker is visible on the top left of the motherboard. The overall layout is organized and clean.

The image shows a green PCB with a central IC chip. The chip has a large, dark, circular component mounted on top. The PCB has various traces, holes, and a small white component at the bottom.

A small, square, green printed circuit board (PCB) is centered on a blue, textured background. The PCB features a grid of circular gold-plated pads, which are likely used for mounting a microchip or as a test socket. The pads are arranged in a 5x5 grid, with a small circular hole visible in the top-left corner. The PCB has a green solder mask and gold-colored conductive traces along its edges.
