[illegible]

A photograph of a disassembled Sony WH-1000XM3 headphone. The main body of the headphone is black and lies flat on a green surface with a white grid pattern. The internal driver assembly is visible, featuring a green circuit board with various components and a central silver-colored driver unit. A white plastic component, likely part of the ear cup's internal structure, is positioned above the main body. The overall image is oriented vertically.
