Seitz & Associates December 21, 1999

ANTENNA REQUIREMENTS

The transmitter uses special custom made antenna with calibrated value resistor connected across antenna terminals. The transmitter has special resistance sensing circuitry incorporated into output low pass filter. This circuitry enables power to the output amplifier only if the resistance of the connected antenna is within the specified limits. This insures that no other antenna will be usable with LCS transmitter.