To Whom It May Concern:

We would like to keep the design information provided confidential in the filing for RoboLaser Remote (FCC ID: NMWRR1), for the following reasons:

- 1) We believe the combination of the filter network, balanced loop, and L-C trap design of the RF section which allows the use of ACMOS logic gates as transmission elements is novel, and has cost and performance advantages over conventional FSK modulators.
- 2) The layout of the embedded antenna, ground plane, switches and active circuits gives a usable radiation efficiency from a small loop, while protecting the high-impedance baseband circuits from the high fields generated by the antenna. This circuit approach and layout was developed at considerable time and expense.

Sincerely,

Andrew G. Butler
