The image shows a small electronic assembly on a dark, textured surface. The assembly consists of a yellow rectangular base with a red, textured top. A small green circuit board is mounted on the red top. A white label with the text 'W0654' is placed on the yellow base. To the left of the assembly is a grey power supply unit with a black cable connected to it. A green wire is also visible, extending from the assembly towards the top left. The surface is dark and has some white, irregular patches.
