There are two issues that I would like to clear up regarding this application.

1: While there was a "Request for confidentiality" letter uploaded with the application I realized after I uploaded the application that I neglected to check the "confidential" box for the schematics and block diagrams. To clear up any confusion, Handspring would like those items outlined in the request for confidentiality withheld from public disclosure.

2: It has come to my attention that an error was made on the FCC label drawing that was uploaded with the application. The FCC ID on the label drawing was shown as "08F-NYNY". In fact the FCC ID is "08FNYYNY". A new drawing is being created and will be uploaded to the FCC site as soon as it is complete.

Sincerely

David Waitt
