

Since the output power was so low, it met the RF exposure requirement.