

Appendix

A. Pictures

The following pictures show the external antenna.

According applicant's declaration professional installation is required for the external antenna. The use of the external antenna is not described in the User Manual for the public.

For connection of the external antenna the cover above the connector must be removed. The cover must be break away from the rear side of the housing.

