

Justification for Professional Installation

The device is not to be made available to or marketed to the general public. It is sold through dealers or on a business-to-business basis. The device requires installation by technicians who are licensed and trained by the manufacturer. The device is intended to be used in a commercial environment only, such as a large cattle ranch.
