

EXPOSITORY STATEMENT

"The A2B switch sends a warning signal when a two block condition is about to happen. The associated control unit can then override the crane controls to prevent the two block collision from happening."