

Mock-Up Labels Printed on Label Paper for Compliance
Submittal Pictures.

Ready to cut to size and apply to product.

Altitude A350-2 & Summit WM-100/1000

Altitude 350-2 and WM-100/1000
- Carton Label

|                                                                                   |                     |                                                                                   |                                                                                   |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Model                                                                      | 15938        | Altitude 350-2 Integ. Ant. AP                                              | Qty. 1                                                                     |
| Shipping P/N                                                               | 900xxx-00-xx |  | 130172-00 rev01                                                                   |
| System P/N                                                                 | 800xxx-00-xx |  |                                                                                   |
| Serial No.                                                                 | YYWWA-8xxxx  |  |                                                                                   |
|  |                     | UPC                                                                        |  |

Altitude A350-2

Altitude 350-2 Integral (15938)
- Product ID Label

|              |               |                                                                                     |                                                                                     |
|--------------|---------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 15938 |               | Altitude 350-2 Integ. Ant.                                                   | 130171-00 rev01                                                                     |
| PART No.     | 800155-00-01  |  |  |
| SER. No.     | 0336A-80077   |  | S30122-X8000-X8000-X16                                                              |
| 0WLAN        |               |  |  |
| 1WLAN        |               |  | 1234567891234567                                                                    |
| LAN          | 1234567891234 |  | Product of USA Mfg#: 123456-123x-                                                   |

Altitude 350-2 Detach. (15939)
- Product ID Label

|              |               |                                                                                       |                                                                                     |
|--------------|---------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 15939 |               | Altitude 350-2 Detach. Ant. AP                                                 | 130171-00 rev01                                                                     |
| PART No.     | 800156-00-01  |    |  |
| SER. No.     | 0336A-80078   |    | S30122-X8000-X8000-X16                                                              |
| 0WLAN        |               |    |  |
| 1WLAN        |               |   | 1234567891234567                                                                    |
| LAN          | 1234567891234 |  | Product of USA Mfg#: 123456-123x-                                                   |

Altitude 350-2 Integral (15938) & Detachable (15939)
- Agency Label (Used on Product & Carton)

|                                                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                          |                                                                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| PoE INPUT :48V~ 250mAorINPUT :6V~ 1.5A                | L.T.E. ACCESSORYE177100 | CE0891FCCFCC ID: RJJ-A3502IC: 4141A-A3502 | - Refer to User Guide for proper configuration.- To be installed only by trained personnel. |  | The Altitude 350-2 configured with approved integral or detachable antennas can be used for indoor & outdoor transmissions throughout the European Community. Some restrictions apply in Austria, Belgium, France, Germany, Greece, Italy, Liechtenstein, Spain & Switzerland. See User Guide or go to http://www.extremenetworks.com/go/rfcertification.htm for operating restrictions and antenna limitations by country.This device complies with Part 15 of the FCC Rules and Canadian Standard RSS-210. Operation is subject to the following conditions: (1) This device may cause harmful interference, and (2) This device must accept any interference received, including interference that may cause undesirable operation. This Class B digital apparatus complies with Canadian ICES-003. |
| Compliant with:IEEE 802.11a/b/gIEEE 802.3afUL 2043 Plenum |                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                          |                                                                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| 130172-00 rev01                                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                          |                                                                                       | For additional radio support go to http://www.extremenetworks.com/go/rfcertification.htm .                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |

extreme networks 15939 Altitude 350-2 Detach. Ant. AP

PART No. 800156-00-00

SER. No. 0336A-80078

0WLAN

1WLAN

LAN 1234567891234

Product of USA

- Refer to User Guide
for proper configuration.
- To be installed only by trained personnel.

S30122-X8000-X8000-X10

12345678912345678

1Mfg# 123456-12

130171-00 rev01

BOTTOM

PoE INPUT:
48V $\pm$  250mA

or

INPUT:
6V $\pm$  1.5A

Compliant with:
IEEE 802.11a/b/g
IEEE 802.3af
UL 2043 Plenum

130172-00 rev01

CE0891①

LISTED
I.T.E. ACCESSORY
E177100

FCC ID: RJJF-A3502
IC: 4141A-A3502

- Refer to User Guide
for proper configuration.
- To be installed only by trained personnel.

The Altitude 350-2 configured with approved integral or detachable antennas can be used for indoor & outdoor transmissions throughout the European Community. Some restrictions apply in Austria, Belgium, France, Germany, Greece, Italy, Liechtenstein, Spain & Switzerland. See User Guide or go to <http://www.extremenetworks.com/go/rfcertification.htm> for operating restrictions and antenna limitations by country.

This device complies with Part 15 of the FCC Rules and Canadian Standard RSS-210. Operation is subject to the following conditions: (1) This device may cause harmful interference, and (2) This device must accept any interference received, including interference that may cause undesirable operation. This Class B digital apparatus complies with Canadian ICES-003.

For additional radio support go to <http://www.extremenetworks.com/go/rfcertification.htm>.

130172-00 rev01

LEFT