

A black handheld electronic device, possibly a GPS or a rugged PDA, is shown against a white background. The device has a rectangular screen in the center, which is dark and appears to be off. Above the screen, there is a horizontal blue rectangular label. A blue arrow originates from the text 'FCC ID Label Location' at the bottom and points directly to the blue label. The device has a silver-colored clip or mounting bracket at the top. The overall image has a slightly grainy, low-resolution quality.
