

Model: M916-STD-1K

The image displays two views of a disassembled white computer mouse. The left view shows the underside of the mouse, revealing a green printed circuit board (PCB) with various electronic components, a black battery, and a white scroll wheel assembly. The right view shows the interior of the mouse's upper shell, highlighting the mechanical switches and the internal wiring. Both views are set against a blue background.

