

The image displays two views of a disassembled orange wireless mouse against a blue background. The left view shows the bottom half of the mouse, revealing the internal green circuit board, a black battery, and a black sensor unit. The right view shows the top half of the mouse, which is empty except for some internal structural components and a small blue rectangular piece.

Antenna

