

A close-up photograph of the rear of a white medical device. The device has a cylindrical body with a textured, ribbed section. At the back, there is a threaded metal connector with a central gold-colored pin. The device is resting on a light blue fabric surface.

