To whom it may concern,

Transmission is only active when initiated by external device. Upon detection of operational failure, the system is placed in 'safe' state where power to wireless chip is disabled.

Reference FCC 15.407(c): "The device shall automatically discontinue transmission in case of either absence of information to transmit or operational failure. These provisions are not intended to preclude the transmission of control or signalling information or the use of repetitive codes used by certain digital technologies to complete frame or burst intervals. Applicants shall include in their application for equipment authorization a description of how this requirement is met"

Sincerely,
