OVERVIEW | DESKTOP & TABLET MODE

Desktop / Tablet Mode:

NOTE: Some references in this manual refer to touch gestures, please ignore if your device does not support touch.

By default, your Windows 10 device starts in desktop view, which is very similar to the Windows 7 desktop. In this interface, each program operates in a distinct window that can be moved, resized and minimized. You can add application shortcuts and personalize the desktop with different backgrounds, colors, and themes much like previous versions of Windows.

OVERVIEW | DESKTOP & TABLET MODE

If your device has a touch screen, you can switch to tablet mode view that is optimized for use on touchscreen devices.

To do this tap/click on the Action Center, then tap/click tablet mode to switch or toggle between desktop and tablet mode views.

OVERVIEW | DESKTOP & TABLET MODE

Tablet mode allows you to navigate easily using touch gestures without a mouse or keyboard.

OVERVIEW | DESKTOP & TABLET MODE

When using your device in tablet mode, the desktop fades away and everything goes into full screen. Apps will open and stay completely expanded. You'll see a new Start menu that covers the entire screen just like the Metro UI in Windows 8/8.1.

OVERVIEW | DESKTOP & TABLET MODE

Tablet mode also brings up an on-screen keyboard automatically when you need to type, so a physical keyboard is not required.

The date and time is automatically adjusted when your device is connected to the internet. If you need to correct the date/time on your device, you can configure the device to set the date/time automatically according to your time zone.

1. Open Action Center and select All settings.

(Note: If using touch gestures, you can Swipe Left from the right side of the screen.)
