

ation procedure may be before being given to a collection point for proper disposal. Please refer to the separate instructions for the disposal of the various types of equipment. The equipment shown below and affixed to the electrical equipment collection label. The equipment must be collected separately.

According to the IEEE Directive and the national implementation law, as distributors of electrical equipment, we have the obligation to take back certain types of electrical equipment free of charge:

- When you purchase a new electrical and electronic device, you can surrender an old device of the same kind (same function) as the new device to its free of charge.
- If your old electrical equipment is not portable (for example, in any dimension, you can also surrender it to its free of charge without paying anything).
- When you purchase a new electrical equipment, we will then arrange the return of the old electrical equipment. For safety reasons, we will not accept the return of flammable, explosive, toxic, corrosive, radioactive, or public waste management apparatuses to return lighting equipment or contact us directly at the collection point.

You can also return old electrical equipment to any of the collection points run by the public authorities (municipal, regional, or national). It is an important contribution to the recycling, reducing the environmental impact and saving energy. Your old electrical equipment for separate collection in the proper collection groups.

Please observe the information in the manual and safety instructions to prevent waste, and please check for possible repair options.
