A black, wedge-shaped electronic device, possibly a vintage computer component, is shown from a side-on perspective. The device has a small, rectangular label on the left side with some illegible text. On the right side, there is a metal connector or port. A yellow ruler is placed horizontally below the device, showing measurements in inches. The ruler is marked from 68 to 84 inches. The device appears to be made of a dark, possibly plastic or metal, material. The background is a plain, light-colored surface.
